The content in this material is great. A variety of activities linking higher order thinking, values clarification, and life skills, to convey information and skills that are relevant, meaningful and engaging. Assessments provide performance based tasks, informal and formal summative and formative measures and provide useful, clear information to both teachers and students about their skills and knowledge. Clear language, specific vocabulary and culturally diverse graphics allow teachers to generate varied levels of discussion. This series needs more emphasis in gender and cultural diversity but is quite strong in racial diversity. The communication, safety and health skills it promotes and practices are strong and worthwhile! User friendly and engaging!
