Speak Up 2010 Students and Parents Report is Now Available!

The New 3E's of Education: Enabled, Engaged, Empowered - How Today's Students are Leveraging Emerging Technologies for Learning

Dear Sally:

Thank you for your interest in Speak Up! This year's briefing was another great success and the the Speak Up 2010 report: "The New 3E's of Education: Enabled, Engaged, Empowered - How Today's Students are Leveraging Emerging Technologies for Learning" is now available on our website!

The Speak Up 2010 report focuses on three specific key trends that have generated significant interest this past year at conferences, in policy discussions and within our schools and districts: mobile learning, online and blended learning and e-textbooks. Each of these trends not only include the essential components of the student vision of socially-based, un-tethered and digitally rich learning, but they also directly address the three new "E's of Education" – enable, engage and empower. In this report, we will share the authentic, unfiltered views of K-12 students and parents on these key trends and document their aspirations for fully leveraging the technologies supporting these trends to transform their learning lives.

About Project Tomorrow and Speak Up

Speak Up is a national initiative of Project Tomorrow, the nation's leading education nonprofit organization dedicated to the empowerment of student voices in education. The Speak Up National Research Project annually polls K-12 students, parents and educators about the role of technology for learning in and out of school and represents the largest collection of authentic, unfiltered stakeholder voice on digital learning. Since 2003, over 2.2 million K-12 students, parents, teachers, librarians, principals, technology leaders and district administrators have shared their views and ideas through Speak Up.

Speak Up 2010 is generously underwritten this year by the following innovative companies:
