

AYP and Designation Review 2009

NCLB legislation provides a review period for schools and districts who wish to challenge AYP determinations. Reviews are allowed when the district or school believes that they were incorrectly identified, or when unusual circumstances may have compromised the accuracy of findings.

Requests for review must be submitted by Friday, August 14, 2009. Please fully describe the cause for the appeal, and attach supportive documentation such as STARS submissions, copies of IEPs, or verification of unusual circumstances. Because districts have already certified the accuracy of student demographic, attendance and graduation data during biodata review (SOAP), challenges to this data will not be considered grounds for an appeal.
